

SAUNTERINGS
From Where The West
Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

LAST Sunday was Father's Day. As usual Dads received the customary array of brilliant-colored neckties, and off brand cigars. Probably it would prove a better treat for the 'old man' if Mom and the kids would let the skipper smoke his corn cob in the parlor, and hike his stocking feet upon the window sill. The idea may have its good points—but like Will Rogers at the end of his broadcast last Sunday night—we say in regards to Father's Day—Ha! Ha.

SIGN in downtown barroom: "My friend count your change before you treat; save enough for bread and meat." Lots of good old cow lot philosophy in them 'thar words partners. The man who is yellow enough to spend for drink money needed to feed his family is the most obnoxious kind of human garbage. Drinking—like cussing—should always be done like a gentleman.

MODERN day sirens on fire trucks screaming warning as they roar down congested city streets still give the spectators an indescribable thrill, but nothing can replace the old-time, horse-drawn engine dang-a-lang-ding down the street with smoke and sparks a-flying. The clapping of the spirited engine horses, sensing the spirit of adventure and service to their beloved mankind, presented a colorful spectacle that modern science and invention, working in a medium of lifeless steel and iron, can never replace. At one time in our childhood, to command the driver's post on a fire engine was the height of life's ambition.

IF YOU would prove that curiosity is still mankind's second nature, just stand on a busy street corner and seriously look upward pointing toward an imaginary object in the sky. Your reporter, actually tried this stunt and did the sillies fall for the gag? Quick as you could say "scat" a group formed. In split seconds were searching for comets, someone heard the Graff Zeplin was flying overhead, and other fantastic foolishness. P. S.—When the hard boiled traffic cop swaggered upon the scene, that was yours truly's cue to beat a timely and hasty exit for parts unknown.)

TUESDAY was Emancipation Day. In case you are a bit vague on the meaning of this day, ask some old darky. He will probably tell you: "Boss man, dat's de day us niggers was freed by dat great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln. White man, he en an angle in us colored folkses' eyes." Every right-thinking Christian man and woman of the white race will sympathize with the colored man, and share his joy and freedom that is his of June 19th.

DID you know?—A quart of oil poured upon water will cover a surface 2 acres in area. It takes snow to a depth of 10 to 12 inches to equal 1 inch of rain. The average Pullman car weighs 72 tons. Neither did we.

NOW that candidates are out in full force, and an open game season is declared on all politicians, the following smoking cork joke may prove timely:

First voter: Senator Gassbag's speeches have certainly improved a lot since he hired somebody else to write them for him.

Cinix: Yes, and they'd be improved a lot more if he could get someone else to deliver them.

ODDITIES from the Police Department blotter: Burglar steals 1,440 lbs. of lead—that was no lead pipe sinch. Coffee urn stolen—the urn contained hot coffee. Christmas tree burns in March when candles are lighted; home is damaged. Looks like someone is chiseling on Santa's N. R. A. Code here. Page Gen. Johnson. Thieves call at 'will call' counter and steal $300 worth of clothes, shoes and other apparel—the mugs forgot to leave their calling cards for the police... such manners.

IT'S bad enough to fish when the fish are on a bait nibbling holiday one local fisherman claims, but when a water moccasin decides to crawl up a fellow's trouser leg, and bite him on the thigh—that's taking advantage of good nature. That was the sad experience of a patient at the county hospital. The snake escaped.

Girl Scouts Hold
Overnight House-Party
At Waveland Estate

Wednesday, June 13, a party consisting of Mrs. J. B. Goldman, Mrs. J. B. Olson, Miss Cora Griffith, Mrs. Bernice Jacobs and twelve girl scouts went on an overnight house-party at the Nye estate in Waveland. The girls enjoyed a treasure hunt which took place Wednesday afternoon. Directions were given by calling the Morse Code. The prizes, tickets to the theater, were won by Eulalie Coward, Eleanor Jacobs, and Caroline Griffith. For other entertainment the girls went swimming, gave "stunts," and did many other interesting things. The party returned Thursday morning.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF MOLLERE'S GROCETERIA CELEBRATED NEXT WEEK

Carnival of Prices and Vast Stock of Goods to Attract Many—Band of Music Will Feature Opening Sale Saturday—The Store That Consistent Newspaper Advertising Built.

C. B. Mollere's Groceteria carries a full double page advertisement in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo, on the occasion of the store's fifth anniversary, telling of the vast and varied stock and of the carnival prices. While this is not the first double page advertisement this newspaper has carried it is the first exhibited by the enterprise of any local store and in itself spells success.

The history of the success of Mollere's Groceteria within a space of only five years reads akin to the marvels of Aladdin's Lamp. There has been nothing like it.

Mr. Mollere's keen business insight and well-known enterprise has caused him to be a consistent advertiser. Week after week for years he has carried liberal space on the local page of The Sea Coast Echo, telling of the quality and prices of his goods and telling the public what he has for sale. We have known of no better and more consistent newspaper advertiser. Week after week, month after month and year after year he has taken advantage of the splendid and recognized medium of the home newspaper, and, in turn, as he tells, it has brought handsome returns. When he missed the press a generous-sized circular or poster followed.

Of course, Mr. Mollere has the goods, service and prices. His enterprise is well known. He never stops. His store is not only spacious and attractive but is perhaps the best looking and largest store between New Orleans and Mobile. It is oftentimes referred to as Solari's store, well known in New Orleans and over the South. He is never finished improving. To rest means rust, he says. Handsome and modern fixtures and the latest type of refrigeration is used. He sells products from the world over. There is hardly anything one may ask for if he does not carry in stock. He has confined his activities strictly to the grocery and meat departments as well as delicatessen. He neither conducts a filling station in connection, has no dry goods, shoes and hat department, no beer or other similar liquors, no soft drinks. His is a groceteria and market in the strictest sense of the word and he says he hopes to keep it so. He has no inclination to compete with people or firms that are not strictly in his line.

This store is located in Waveland, one of the smallest towns along the Coast. But this makes no difference. His trade extends from all over the county and over into Harrison county. Location means nothing to him. People come just the same. Mrs. Mollere assists at the register and her personality about the store is quite an asset to the business. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mollere find time to chat and meet the public while the busiest moments or rush is on.

Read the double page advertisement and profit thereby. Surely there must be many items that appeal to the taste and pocketbook.

On the occasion of the fifth anniversary The Echo wishes to extend its felicitations and best wishes for continued success.

Children Invited To City Hall Park For Recreation

Every Saturday afternoon, announce the County Recreational Workers, from 4 to 6 o'clock, there will be a Children's Hour, and all children of Bay St. Louis and visitors, are cordially invited and urged to attend. The program is worth while and is held, without fee, strictly for the recreation of the children.

Each evening there is some type of a surprise. The kiddies are asked to go and enjoy the fun. In City Hall Park.

Death Visits Home Of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fayard Tuesday Morning

After an illness of long duration, the baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Fayard passed to his heavenly home on Tuesday morning, June 19, at 6:15 A. M., aged 6 months. The baby is survived by its parents and two sisters and one brother. The funeral took place Wednesday with burial at Cedar Rest cemetery. Fathers Leo Fahay and P. Moran officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Fayard have the sympathy of many friends in this city.

BAY ST. LOUIS AS A RETAIL TRADING CENTER WELL KNOWN

Mecca for People From Two Counties Find It To Advantage to Shop Here

Go in any store, any morning, dear reader, and find people trading. In the crowds almost any number will be found from out of town. This fact cannot be contradicted. It is actually proven every day. The Bay-Waveland section attracts many. People who buy and spend their money. Certainly there must be a reason, for, as is well known, there are stores elsewhere.

But, as a trader said recently, stocks here are varied and complete and prices are always in line with the lowest possible prices and consistent with better goods. And uniform courtesy is accorded to one and all.

Grocery store and market patrons each morning are served in large buying quantities. People come to town to buy and certainly there must be good, consistent and lasting reason why they come here and repeat visits.

However, it is no secret. Our stores carry large and complete stocks, particularly in the grocery and meat departments. One may buy anything here, always fresh and of the best. And again, meats are choice and fresh. A housewife from across the Bay said she came here frequently for the reason it was possible at any one store to buy all that was necessary. There was variety, selection and quality, she said. And one need not run around from store to store to make a substantial purchase or to put in a supply for a week or several days.

This is quite a boost for Bay St. Louis business. And The Echo is of the opinion our people of Bay-Waveland are entitled to this boost. They not only deserve it but their enterprise entitles them to it.

CITY NATURALLY PROUD OF ITS YOUNG PEOPLE AT SCHOOL

Grades and Graduations—Promotions and Success For Future University Graduates.

Every city has and should feel proud of the quota of young people who each year, advance from grade to grade, finish from high school and finally receive their degrees from the higher institutions of learning.

This year has been no exception for Bay St. Louis and vicinity. We learn the scholastic terms, recently ended, have proven productive of more than accomplishment in the ordinary sense. Our boys and girls in the grades have earned marks far above the average, in other words, they have made the grade and are ready to go thru another year.

High schools, we have three, have granted diplomas to young ladies and gentlemen who, through arduous years of study, have well earned their sheepskins. They have studied well and reached that point in life that if necessary to go forth into the outer world, they are amply prepared.

Then there is a number who have finished in university work, study four years with high averages and finishing with high honors. A list of this number was published in the columns of The Echo recently and need not be repeated here. They are well known. They have the admiration of their friends and the public in general.

It is with pride these achievements are published. It is a pleasure to congratulate these young people, now on the threshold of life. To them economies of praise! They deserved it in generous measure. But, in the last analysis, not wishing to take away any of the shine, let us not forget the hand of gladness, and well-wishing also to the parents who have made the sacrifices, who, in their own respective measure, have contributed to these results.

DOMESTIC GAS FOR THIS SECTION IS ALL- IMPORTANT SUBJECT

Added Revenue to Realty Values, Better Values, Better Rents Lessens Tax Burden to Owners.

Someone has said there is no better way to lessen the tax burdens of this section than to increase realty values. Installation of gas for domestic use will do it.

Property with increased rental and selling values mean more revenue for the owner and in turn the tax-burden becomes less burdensome. We are advocating the gas question for this section for the reason our people are well entitled to it. The present situation seems nothing less than a rank injustice to our people. It is evident they are patient, docile and self-satisfied rather than bring the subject to a climax after the most insistent and revolutionary methods.

With gas on all sides of Bay-Waveland within so short a distance as exists creates a justifiable feeling of rebellion. How our people have all along remained self-contained passes all understanding. Of course, it is to their credit but far from their material benefit.

The Echo is glad to learn that the matter was discussed with the board of mayor and city commissioners and these gentlemen were heartily in favor of taking the matter up for active discussion and realization. Accordingly, they have made it known they are receptive to propositions from two of the companies operating in this vicinity that will grant the companies more than ordinary concessions but, of course, the rights of the people—the consumer—rigidly protected. They are giving a "franchise" that will elicit our people by the "boat" of getting in. We will watch this matter with continued interest and keep our readers posted from time to time as developments occur.

BAY PUBLIC LIBRARY GAINS AVERAGE FIVE NEW READERS PER DAY

Twenty-Three New Books From Jackson Loaned For Local Circulation; Other Notes

Robin Goodfellow had a little blue flower called "Love in Idleness," which had power to enchant the eye, causing one to fall in love with the wrong person, and, which if you remember your "Mid-Summer Night's Dream," wrought great confusion in the lives of Hermia and Helena; so remember girls, this is Mid-Summer eve, and don't go out on double dates.

The shortest night of the year means just that much more day light for reading to lots of us, since Miss Louise Crawford, librarian, finds new readers increase at the average rate of five a day. Checking up one afternoon last week she found that one hundred and eighteen books were in circulation. By the way, twenty-three books are paying us a visit from the Jackson library. Laying books aside, have you been wondering what to do with those old jig-saw puzzles? Miss Crawford can use them in her country reading centers.

Mrs. Caroline Dale Snedeker announces that her story hour has been moved up to the pleasanter hour of four, Thursdays.

Swimming Classes And Water Sports for Young Children

Swimming classes and water sports for small children are being held twice weekly at the head of Booker street—quite a crowd of children are participating in these events each Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 6. This is being conducted by the County Recreational Workers.

Flat Top Center To Dedicate New Community House

Flat Top is celebrating the dedication of their community house this Friday, June 22. A inter-community hall game will be the feature of the afternoon sports. Come out, bring your lunch basket and enjoy the day with your friends.

DISCUSS INCREASE IN AUTO

Discussion of the alarming increase in the cost of automobile liability insurance, which was attributed largely to the number of accidents and large verdicts in Harrison county courts, occupied the Biloxi Business Club members at their meeting today. Members were urged individually to bend their efforts to making the Biloxi Biloxi Hospital benefit a success.

RAFFERTY ELECTED AT PASS

Dr. D. G. Rafferty Defeats Mayor J. H. Spence by 19 Votes—Hot Election

Pass Christian, July 20.—Dr. Donald G. Rafferty, after a vitriolic campaign in which he pledged sweeping reforms in the present city administration, was elected mayor of the city of Pass Christian by 19 votes over Dr. James H. Spence, present mayor.

The election was one of the closest waged in years in the city and saw a number of upsets in the present administration, all of whom were seeking reelection. 539 votes were polled in the city, and Rafferty received 277 with Spence receiving 258.

Joseph J. Wittman, seeking reelection as alderman at large, was elected over A. P. Saucier, former mayor, by a vote of 270 to 257.

Herbert H. Hanson, present alderman of the first ward, was also re-elected over George Courtenay by a vote of 95 to 26.

In the second ward, P. A. McCollister was elected without opposition, W. J. Hursay, after announcing as a candidate, withdrawing before the election.

In the third ward, John J. Farrell, a new comer in the political field, received 77 votes, leading his opponents, Eugene Peralta, present alderman, who received 44 votes, and Walters Terrell who polled 37.

James Smith, present alderman of the fourth ward, led easily over his opponent, John T. McDonald, Sr., receiving 30 votes to McDonald's 24.

Woman in Race
Mrs. Hazel French, the only woman in the race, was defeated by Martin Farrell, present city clerk, who has served for the past sixteen years, Mr. Farrell receiving 324 votes and Mrs. French 210.

The widest margin made by any of the present office holders was scored by Leo McDermott, tax collector, who polled 308 votes to 224 received by Frank P. Wittman, Jr. Mr. McDermott, who has served the city for the past ten years, carried every ward in his race for reelection.

The four candidates seeking the office of marshal received the following votes: Herman Finhold, incumbent 217; William F. McDonald, 197; W. E. Lizana, 77, and J. Print Rouse 38.

Celebrations Follow

Following the counting of the votes at the Pass Christian City Hall, the entire city celebrated with groups visiting at the various homes of their favorite candidates to extend congratulations. Those who entertained extensively were Leo McDermott, entertaining at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. McCollister; Martin Farrell, John Farrell, Herman Finhold, Dr. J. H. Spence, Walters Terrell and William F. McDonald.

The city marshal was kept busy during the later part of the night, when a cutting scrape occurred, with three men being given first aid treatment. They were Clifton Sims, cut about the arms and legs; Alfred Benven, scalp wounds, and Buford Moran, who was stabbed several times. Bully Mason was placed in jail on the charge of carrying a deadly weapon and a number of others were jailed on a charge of drunkenness.

The second primary will be held next Tuesday, July 26, for two offices, Herman Finhold seeking reelection against William F. McDonald, and Eugene Peralta, alderman of the third ward, seeking reelection against John J. Farrell.

Concert by Municipal Band at City Park Thursday Evening

The first of a series of band concerts was given Thursday evening of this week at the city park by the Bay St. Louis Municipal Band, under the direction of Mr. Harold Ramsay, and will be followed every second Thursday by a similar concert.

A band stand is to be erected at the city park in the near future it is stated. The concerts furnish much entertainment and pleasure for our local people as well as the visitors here and at nearby points of this section.

Practices are held each week and the pleasing renditions of many modern and popular numbers were loudly applauded by the many who attended.

The public is cordially invited and should turn out in full force in appreciation of the efforts of the members of the band, who will provide added amusement during the summer season. The band is certainly an asset to the community and should have the full support of our citizens.

BAY-WAVELAND IS IDEAL RESORT FOR THE VACATIONIST

Section Already Has Passed Quota for This Time of Season—Many Welcomed

Summer resort season along the Mississippi Gulf Coast and particularly along the section known as Bay-Waveland, shows a daily influx, resorters coming from all sections of Louisiana and Mississippi. There is every indication, and so far it has been proven, there are more people comprising the summer colony than usually.

Of course, many of the former visitors fail to show up here and there. They have either been surfeited with the seashore and are seeking elsewhere, to the mountains if the pocketbook permits. Some have severed their local contact because of the economic upheaval. But, as some one has said, for everything there is a new crop of newcomers every season.

Bay St. Louis, Waveland and vicinity, including Clermont Harbor and Lakeshore, hold their respective popularity. Bay St. Louis for this time of the season and Waveland well have their quotas. Attendance at churches on Sunday will show this. Post office activities have increased correspondingly and the number of automobiles carrying out-of-State licensees are well evidences to sustain the statement.

Bathing, boating, motoring and fishing as summer pastimes have lost none of their hold on the vacationist and this seems to be the paradise for the vacationist.

Thousands of readers away from Bay St. Louis will read these lines. To them we say, come to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Here one gets the most for the money and the minimum of genuine satisfaction. Our people are cordial and make the welcome genuine.

WORK BOAT OF M'LEOD TURPENTINE COMPANY WRECKED BY STORM

Battered Against Waveland Seawall—Engine Salvaged—New Boat To Be Built

"The Skidoo," 30-foot cabin work boat, belonging to the McLeod Turpentine Company, this county, dragged anchor from opposite Gulfport during the storm last Saturday and was washed ashore on Waveland beach, opposite the John D. Grace premises.

When located the boat was not only found in bad condition but already much of the interior furnishings had been taken, including the compass, life preservers and other fixtures. The condition of the hull is undetermined at this writing, however, it was stated that the engine, taken out Tuesday, was in practically perfect condition and would be used should the owners decide to build a new vessel, which was originally factory made and of fine substantial material.

"The Skidoo" was used by the McLeod Turpentine Company in plying between the mainland and Ship Island, principally and carried as many as thirty men when necessary. It had been in trade for a year or more and served to good purpose, and was estimated to be about eight years old. It was principally damaged and battered by striking with wave force against the concrete seawall.

Mr. Norton Haas, said he thought the vessel was most probably a total loss and that the engine might be used in a new hull to be built. There was little hope of salvaging the hull, he said.

Salesman for Bond Bread Company Held Up Thursday Morning

M. S. Baria, driver of the Bond Bread Company truck, was held up Thursday morning at about 6:15 o'clock, at Main and Toule streets in front of Scharff's L. G. A. store and relieved of $2.35.

Mr. Baria described the men as one being red headed and about 20 years old and the other dark complexioned, also about 20 years of age. The men were in a Chevrolet sedan, bearing Texas license No. 468-610, and made their escape out Main street after the robbery.

Baria was at the time making his morning deliveries when the men immediately notified him. City police were notified and took up the chase for the bandits, according to Mr. Baria. A special effort is being made to locate the men.

ICE AND CANNING PLANT AT THE PASS ANNOUNCES OPENING

Dunbar-Dukate Get Factory Back for Fall and Plan Canning—Ice Plant Starts

The iceplant of the Pass Christian branch of Dunbar-Dukate Company began the manufacture of ice several days ago, and is now running to capacity after being closed for several months.

The opening of the ice plant is the forerunner of operations which will take place in the late fall and winter when the company will pack oysters and other seafoods. The Dunbar-Dukate company has not operated for several years, although the plant has been in operation for the past two winters, under lease by R. Hart Chinn, of Biloxi for one season, and by Louis Braun, also of Biloxi during the following season.

Extensive repairs are being made to the buildings and other equipment at the plant, and all boats belonging to the company are being overhauled and put in condition for the dredging of oysters.

The Dunbar-Dukate company has been operated at Pass Christian for a long number of years, and when operating in full time furnishes employment to about 400 persons.

WHY NOT ENJOY YOUR VACATION?

MILLIONS of people in the United States, including many of those in Hancock county, contemplate vacation trips during the next few months, but many of the journeys will be anything except hest and relaxation from regular worries.

Vacations should, it seems, be something of a change from regular habits, with plenty of time for sleep, rest and ease, if the individual is to enjoy real benefit from the time and money spent. Very often, there is nothing like this on the schedule, which is made up of rush trips, exhausting entertainment, and other energy taxing activities.

Naturally, no one program can suit all types of human beings. For many the mile-a-minute rush vacation may be best, but for the great majority of people a vacation would be a thing enjoyed if it was staged on a slower and less exacting time-table.

SUPPORT ORGANIZED RELIGION

REPEATEDLY, The Sea Coast Echo has urged its readers to support the churches of this community, and declared its belief that most of the progress made by men and women is attributable to the influence of religion.

Parents, who neglect to teach their children the value of religious teaching and fail to bring them into contact with religious organizations, overlook the most potent influence for good that the race has developed.

Understand, we claim nothing like perfection for religions, of any type, or for the organizations which promotes them. There are improvements to be made, no doubt, but, on the whole, the work that has been accomplished in the past is a record of commendation for both.

BUSINESS BETTER?

AN unusual demand for small change in silver is reported by the United States Treasury and is taken as an indication of increased business in the country, especially small business.

Shipments of half dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels, and cents are far in excess of any demand during the past thirteen years. In some denominations, the shipments for the first five months of this year have exceeded similar shipments in the first five months of the previous thirteen years combined.

The trend of public thought, as the Administration enters its second year, is reflected by the multitude of newspaper and magazine articles that are now appearing, entitled, "What Will Follow the NRA?" or "After the AAA—What?" and so on. These bureaus have done much that is beneficial but they haven't achieved anywhere near what an overly-optimistic public thought they would. Important changes in recovery set-up, methods and personnel are coming before many moons.

One of the most valuable discoveries about so-called big men is that under the skin they are just ordinary little men.

Give a beggar a quarter a week for five weeks and he will give you a half dozen nasty looks when you skip the sixth week.

Bay St. Louis will be as good as the average citizen in its midst. Let's improve ourselves if we want to improve our city.

Many a man will read the colored comics without being interested in the improvement of social conditions in his own city.

Subscribers to this chronicle will encourage us greatly by mailing in checks and thus enable us to continue to visit them on our appointed days.

We never tire of telling the people of Bay St. Louis to trade at home. It's best in the long run even if we have a lot of smart guys who are short-winded.

Bay St. Louis would be greatly improved if all owners of houses would have them repaired, painted and renovated. You would hardly recognize the place.

One way to dampen enthusiasm is for some brother to get up and say, "Well folks, this will need money, and I think everybody should make a liberal contribution."

You can go to many different kinds of localities in the United States, and see so much of value, that it is hard to understand why every one doesn't "See America First."

This beauty contest business seems to be voreplayed. However, the craze did survive a longer time than either the yo-yo or the miniature golf parody.

The band concerts by the local Municipal band at the City Park are attracting much attention and are furnishing much entertainment for our residents and visitors.

LAST CHANCE TO VOTE ON REPEAL.

MISSISSIPPIANS will have no difficulty in understanding the issue when they ballot on the hard-liquor referendum, July 10. The official ballot approved by the state election commission sets forth the two questions as follows:

For the sale of alcoholic beverages in the county.....
Against the sale of alcoholic beverages in the county.....

For state-wide prohibition.....
Against State-wide prohibition.....
Under provisions of the liquor referendum bill a voter may vote for liquor in his county and at the same time vote against state-wide prohibition.

Many of the counties of the state could vote dry and remain dry even though the state as a whole might vote wet.

This is probably the last chance Mississippians will have to vote on liquor referendum bill and we would suggest that it might be well to turn out and vote and not depend on the other fellow. Too many elections have been lost this way. The apathy of the individual voter is responsible for many failures. The balance of the State of Mississippi is largely depending on the Gulf Coast and South Mississippi to put the liquor bill over.

Liquor, we are told, is sold just the same, without proper license, and always will, regardless if the election goes dry. Tax-burdened citizens and other property owners on bonded knee are in attitude of supplication, praying for relief. How long may we endure this tension is not the question, for we have disastrously passed the crisis. The question now is how far bankrupted are we going.

Cities, counties and the State are bankrupt. Property is worth far less its intrinsic value. Market value there is none. Prohibition proved a rank failure. It's repeal by the Democratic party has proven an essential factor in the return of commercial activity over the country. It is generally contended, and sustained, that the subject is not a moral but an economic question.

MAYOR SPENCE LOSES AT THE PASS

PASS Christian, like its sister city, has its municipal elections every four years and nothing attracts more interest and creates more excitement. Why, no one knows.

Pass Christian had a typical case of electionitis Tuesday. It was seemingly a supreme struggle. Dr. J. H. Spence, who has served for 19 years, was not as impregnable as some of his ardent admirers thought. And neither was Dr. Rafferty, mayor-nominate, as weak as some of Spence's friends thought he might be.

A Clean sweep, as this was in a great measure, seems to be the prevailing order of things. And the precedent has been set within the past year or more in no uncertain phase.

We are of the opinion that regardless how well affairs of the cities are administered, the fact remains the holder of a warrant not cashable becomes an aggrieved party. He is at once against that kind of government where the coffers are empty, regardless of rhyme or reason, and to a considerable degree this plays to the advantage of the "ins." And the man or men considered too long in office have a hard battle, regardless of how efficient their service may be.

We see no reason why Mayor Spence was defeated, unless it be for one of the reasons above enumerated. "Doc" is a fine fellow. A real sport. One of the boys. And he is going to take his defeat just like the good sport we have known him to be for the past twenty years or more.

LET THE ADVOCATES OF BLOOD FEED THEMSELVES.

THE United States government has moved mightily to extend assistance to the victims of the economic crisis. So much so, that there is criticism that too much has been done, and that those helped by assistance will be permanently injured and not likely to become enthusiastic over the job of supporting themselves at a later date.

There is something to the criticism and the observation. Here and there, all over the United States, one reads of complaints made by those who have received special assistance. They, it seems, have grievances and are not altogether satisfied. Having gotten something for nothing they like the taste and want more. It is in line with predictions that this would be the case.

We would not say that justice has been done to all people in the distribution of government aid during the past months. We would not say that wrongs do not require righting, or that those receiving assistance are dumb-driven cattle, without the right of protest.

We do say, however, that when any group, or the leaders of any group, talk about "bloodshed" and "revolution" in regards to getting what they want that it is time for the government to let the advocates of such policies earn their own living as best they can.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

NO card diversion has equalled in delight and value and come to stay more than contract bridge. Men and women alike are playing the game of which Culbertson is a recognized authority and his co-worker, Mrs. Culbertson, both originators. It is an engrossing game. Played by the intelligent.

Men and women have played auction—at it. The number who play contract play the game. There is no subterfuge, no substitute, no affectation. It is, in measure, a mathematical game, cannot be played without card sense. However, the hundreds of thousands playing contract today are doing so with a better understanding and marked improvement in their playing as they progress with time.

Your hand in contract tells exactly to the point how to bid. If the count is correctly figured the bid cannot be wrong. This is a great point in favor of contract. In addition there are many silent points that go to make it a great game. How great only time will tell. Auction has survived for many years, overshadowing the popularity of "500," its immediate predecessor so popular, also euche and hearts.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

STATE ECONOMICS

STATIC (not the kind you have in your radio) means "pertaining to bodies at rest, or force in equilibrium. Acting as weight, but not moving." That is it refers to something that is standing still. Dynamic, which is just the opposite, means "pertaining to motion as the result of force, or to mechanical force of any kind. Producing or involving action." That is, it refers to something that acts and moves.

Economics, otherwise referred to as political economy, may be defined as the study of the production, exchange, distribution and consumption of wealth. The dictionary calls it a science, but this is not very accurate, because we do not really know so much about it as we sometimes think we do. Science is knowledge, not guesswork.

Static economics traces back to a book called, "Wealth of Nations," written by a Scotch genius named Adam Smith, and published in 1776, the year of the American Declaration of Independence. This is one of the greatest and most important books ever written, for it founded a whole new philosophy that is still believed and acted upon by a large part of the civilized world, including congressmen, business men, college professors and others. They believe it so hard that they get wildly excited and fighting mad about it, as may be noticed in the way that Senator Byrd of Virginia, carried on in the Senate committee about Rex Tugwell's promotion. Of course Adam Smith's great work has been developed by Ricardo, Mill, Marshall and a whole army of lesser lights, but the laws he laid down are still held as true by the whole lot of static economists.

In 1776 there was no such thing as a steam railroad, a steamship, a sewing or mowing machine, or even a good plow. Electricity was known to have something to do with lightning and there had been a little experimenting with some very simple and crude apparatus, but no use was to be made of electric power for a long, long time. Petroleum was not yet used, even for medicine. About a century was to pass before Rockefeller organized the petroleum industry and the Standard Oil Company was formed.

Nine people out of every ten lived on farms, instead of in towns or cities. The only very rich people were great land owners. Corporations were mostly religious bodies authorized to hold church property. Business was all small scale. A manufacturer was a man who supplied raw wool to poor people to be spun and wove in their cottages, and later on to be collected by him. Labor unions were unknown. Later they were illegal bodies whose members were liable to at least seven years' imprisonment. There were only three banks in the United States in 1790. The life of the people had changed less since Bible times than it has changed in the last thirty-five years.

The Industrial Revolution started about this period, say 1776, with the invention of machinery for spinning thread and weaving cloth and of a stationary steam engine to drive simple machinery. Many of our school histories say that the Industrial revolution ended a century or so ago, when the truth seems to be that it had merely been well started at that time. It has been going like a snow ball rolling down hill, starting slowly and then moving faster and faster. Mechanical power in the United States is said to have doubled between 1920 and 1930.

Static economics considers that the same rule which applied a century and a half ago, when Adam Smith wrote, are still the rules for us to follow today. The same laws which applied to the retail dealer on Chesapeake, or to the man who hired small farmers to spin and weave for him in their spare time, must also apply to the United States Steel Corporation and to the Chase National Bank.

There is a bit of confusion just at this point. Static economics has discovered a set of natural laws, like those of supply and demand and Gresham's law. So far it is a true science, like arithmetic. But it has also laid down a system of ethics, first pronounced by Adam Smith, which has succeeded in getting itself all mixed up with the natural laws and with the Constitution of the United States, until most people do not know where one leaves off and the other begins. The ethical principles, as deduced by static economists, is well stated in the Bible, Luke 12:18. If you are interested you might look it up. This ethical principle is highly favored by such men as Dr. Butler, the famous president of Columbia University, but was vigorously condemned by both St. Francis of Assisi and John Wesley.

Static economics is now being questioned and criticized more and more, and colleges and universities are approaching the study of wealth from a different angle. More and more people, including both very brilliant men and very ordinary folks, are beginning to think that the rules which applied in the ages of hand labor and small business may not be the last word of science in these days of mechanical power, billion-dollar corporations and multi-billion-dollar debts.

BIG ENOUGH

(McComb Enterprise)

ENEMIES of Dennis Murphy say that he is not big enough to be governor. How big, we wonder, must a man be to be big enough to be governor?

Murphy was governor during the flood, the greatest catastrophe that has happened in this state in half a century. He handled the situation.

He was big enough to stand by his oath and call out the troops to turn back a mob and uphold the law during a time when he was forewarned that such action would be temporary political disaster.

After reviewing his legislative and gubernatorial record we conclude that he is amply big.

The trouble with Dennis is that he has one leg that is shorter than the other. Better by far that he be crippled in the foot and not the head as many politicians we know. We know a fellow in Washington with one leg shorter than the other and they say he is making a pretty big president.

Before I knew of Black-Draught, I would suffer two or three days—but not any more since I have used Black-Draught."

STATE PLANT BOARD PLACES SWEET POTATO GROWERS UNDER RESTRICTIONS

Effective at once, growers of sweet potatoes in the south Mississippi district are restrained by regulation of the State Plant Board from moving or selling seed potatoes or plants. Eating potatoes may be marketed only after being inspected at the farm and found free from the sweet potato weevil. This was announced last week by Horace Gladney, in charge of Plant Board work for this area.

Henceforth, he said, on account of reduced appropriations in both State Plant Board work and for the U. S. Bureau of Entomology, which has been co-operating with the board in its work on the basis of the past year's achievements.

It will concentrate on the effort to prevent the movement or sale of infected potatoes, instead of, as formerly, attempting to enforce regulations in regard to planting, harvesting and other farm practices.

Mr. Gladney expressed the hope that the new regulation would result in genuine co-operation from all potato growers and merchants in the quarantined, or south Mississippi, area. It is expected that detailed eradication work on the farms will again be resumed as soon as the federal government has sufficient funds to undertake the work properly.

Copies of the new regulation are being posted in all court houses and postoffices through the affected area, which is strictly quarantined, in addition to wide distribution among the farmers personally.

Mr. Gladney is in direct charge of the Ocean Springs, west Jackson county, Harrison county, south of Lyman, and coast of Hancock county section.

G. L. Bond, of Moss Point, has Greene and George counties, Jackson county east of Pascagoula river, and the Gautier community.

J. P. Kislanko, Wiggins, will take care of the Stone, Forest, Lamar, Covington and Jones counties and the northern part of Harrison.

J. E. Lee, Poplarville, has Pearl River county and all of Hancock, except along the coast.

Three additional men are out in Pearl River and Hancock counties, under the direction of K. L. Cockham, of the Bureau of Entomology. The Bureau will also check on the other districts at irregular intervals.

YOU OWE YOURSELVES A VACATION EITHER TO COAST OR MOUNTAINS

Annual Debate Probably Heard in Every Urban Home—Why Not Come To Bay St. Louis?

What's all the argument about in the family circles in New Orleans and other urban communities just now? Oh, yes, we know. It's vacation time in full swing and each member of the family is presenting mostly at the same time, his or her views to where he or she wants to spend the vacation and why. Why not make it to Bay-Waveland section or anywhere along the Mississippi Gulf Coast?

There are all kinds of arguments that most any of us could put up as to why we would rather go to the mountains or to the seashore. We can point out the advantages and disadvantages to our heart's content. But, after all is said and done, we'll all agree that the family—every member of it—should have a vacation at least once during the year.

This business of living is rather a tiresome struggle for the average one of us, with the continuous grind of it wearing us down into a rut. If we stay put too long, we may find ourselves so deeply planted in the rut that we can't make up our minds to make the effort to get out.

A vacation takes our minds from the daily humdrum of existence and gives us a chance to really take stock of ourselves and our lives. We can look at our lives as if in perspective and see if, after all, we are doing the best that we can or just merely existing.

A change from the old routine is good for every member of the family. Certainly, father needs a chance to get his nose off the grindstone for a few days and take things easy. Mother, too, needs a break in the routine of housekeeping and caring for the family, which isn't such a little job in itself. The children get tired of the old familiar surroundings and enjoy a change of scenery and the opportunity of seeing new faces that a vacation brings.

Some experts on the subject advise that the family separate and each go his own way for a vacation, believing that the separation would carry out to some extent the old adage, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." This advice might be good for some families where the members have a habit of getting on each other's nerves.

However, the vacation we would advise would be one where the whole family could go together, be it to the mountains or to the seashore, and, with a change of habits of living and associations, get to know each other even better and appreciate more their own family circle. If the family decided to "camp out" each one should have his particular tasks to perform in order that it may prove to be a real vacation for everyone concerned. And, the best part of it, in these days a vacation doesn't necessarily have to be a burdensome thing for the family of average means. Possessing a reasonably good automobile and adequate camping equipment, a family can go on a trip for an amazingly small amount, seldom more than it would take to care for the family for the same length of time at home.

Viosca Appointed Attorney Despite Action of Senate

New Orleans, June 19.—Judge Wayne G. Borah of Federal District Court today appointed Rene Viosca as United States attorney for the eastern district of Louisiana.

Viosca's nomination to the post by President Roosevelt was withdrawn after Senator Huey P. Long waged a long fight against its confirmation by the Senate.

The appointment was under the provision which gives the judge such power when a vacancy exists. Mr. Viosca will serve indefinitely until the president makes an appointment.

Rufus W. Fontenot, assistant collector of internal revenue here since last October under D. D. Moore, took office today as Acting Collector of Internal Revenue for the New Orleans District. He was named thru the treasury department in Washington.

Irene Dunn and Richard Dix Teamed in Colorful Action Film "Stingaree"

Many new entertainment features are introduced in "Stingaree," lavishly produced romantic screen melodrama. It presents Irene Dunn in a prima donna role with a full, beautiful exploitation of her beautiful singing voice—Richard Dix returns to the dashing roles of his early career.

Against the backgrounds of Australia as it was in the hectic Seventies, the story of "Stingaree" deals with an unusually spectacular love between a lovable, dashing banit and Hilda Bouverie, who works as a servant in the home of rich relatives, the Clarksons.

"Stingaree" discovers the girl's vocal genius when he enters the Clarkson home to rob it. He falls in love with her, kidnaps her and becomes her sponsor for an operatic career.

Inspired by love him, she becomes a great star. "Stingaree" meantime, in trying to help her, is captured and imprisoned. She returns to Australia for a concert engagement, in the hope of seeing her lover once again. In a thrilling climax he escapes from prison, kidnaps the Governor of all Australia, masquerades as that gentleman for one final glimpse of Hilda, and finally, to the consternation of the entire continent, again kidnaps her. This time, however, she is a willing victim. How they manage things to perpetuate their love gives an intriguing and soul-satisfying filip to the concluding scenes.

Significant is the manner in which the production's theme songs, "Stingaree Ballad," and "Tonight You're Mine," written by Frankie Harling, are woven into the plot. Equally intriguing are the reels in which Hilda speeds to triumphs in Italy, Berlin, Paris and London, affording glimpses of notables of the period, including Edward, Prince of Wales and Disraeli, who become worshippers at Hilda's shrine. A glimpse is also had of Covent Garden, world-famous London opera house, where Miss Dunne is heard singing bits of famous operatic scores.

OUR RAINBOW BRIDGE.
Love built a bridge of rainbows
To link your heart with mine
And when the moon is mellow
And stars in silence shine.

Though leagues and leagues divide us,
This rainbow bridge of ours
Like some sweet trail enchanted,
Unites us in Love's bowers.

Teher's not a demon dwelling
In earth or sky or sea,
With potency compelling,
To keep you back from me.

Love built our bridge of rainbows.
No evil shall ascend it.
In life, in death, our bridge shall stand,
For Love shall still defend it.

DADDY'S DAY, 1934.
We wore our roses, white and red,
For all our mothers, living, dead.
With equal fondness, let us pay
Our tributes to our dads to-day.

For every father, everywhere,
Let every son and daughter wear
Some little symbol to impart
The deep devotion of the heart.

Each dear old daddy on this earth
Is just as full of solid worth
And just as winsome in his way
As any mother, any day.

His face and form are not so fair.
He lacks her lovely hands and hair.
He cannot match her voice and smile.
Her beauty beats him, mile on mile.

Though less sublime in grace and charm,
His love is just as live and warm,
His touch as tender to caress,
His life as full of loveliness.

For those he loves, he slaves and sings.
His builds a love-nest and he brings
His daily earnings with delight
To keep his hearth-fire burning bright.

He seldom seems to think of self.
He toils for plenty and for pelf
To gratify each want and whim
Of those who make the world for him.

If he is young, he dreams of days
When his may walk in golden ways.
If he is old, his heart is glad
To be a dear, indulgent dad.

Despite his sweet, unselfish zeal,
I wonder if he does not feel,
When recompenses are reviewed,
The sting of gross ingratitude?

Let every son and daughter wear
For every father, everywhere,
Some little symbol just to say,
"I LOVE YOU, DADDY, EVERY DAY!"

JOHN LANGDON BURIED.

A coroner's jury, presided over by Judge Ruhr, returned a verdict that John Langdon, 61 years old, a native of Germany, had met his death from natural causes. He was found dead at the Holzer summer home on the Bay-Waveland beach front. He was buried in Cedar Rest cemetery, Monday, June 18.

Farmer Brown
A farmer named Brown courted a lady unsuccessfully for many years, during which time he drank her health every day. When for the first time he was observed to omit the custom, a friend said: "Come, Brown, your old toast."

"No," was the reply. "As I cannot make her Brown I'll toast her no longer."

Most Amazing Proof OF EXTRA STRENGTH • SAFETY AND DEPENDABILITY Ever Known!

WORLD RECORD BROKEN!

It is almost inconceivable that human ingenuity could build tires that would withstand the terrific punishment of the 500-mile grind at Indianapolis, May 30.

'Round and 'round the blistering track they streaked, hour after hour, under the blazing sun . . . the low moan of powerful motors rose to a terrific roar as they hit the straightaways at 150 miles or better—grinding, pulling, pounding around treacherous tire-destroying curves faster than they ever dared before. Sliding into the turns at these terrific speeds, there was nothing to hold the car to the track except the tire.

Mile after mile, lap after lap, greater and greater heat and increased centrifugal force developed to separate the tread from the body of the tire. Every conceivable force known was working to tear the tires to pieces—yet Firestone High Speed Tires, with Gum-Dipped High Stretch Cords, withstood this most grueling test.

Thirty-three demons of speed—thirty-three cars equipped with Firestone High Speed Tires—all protected by Gum-Dipped High Stretch Cords—entered the Annual Speed Classic. Every tire was bought by the driver or owner of the car.

In all the heat—in all the grinding—in all the straining and pulling—not one cotton strand loosened—not one life was endangered by tire failure—not one car was forced out of the race by tire trouble. Six of the winners finished without a tire change.

What a tribute to the Extra Strength—Safety and Durability built into Firestone High Speed Tires.

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

The amazing record of Firestone dependability at Indianapolis was made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping. Every fiber of every cord in every ply of the tire is saturated and coated with pure liquid rubber; there are eight extra pounds of rubber to every 100 pounds of cotton cords.

There is greater adhesion between the plies of the Gum-Dipped Cord body and between the body and the tread. As a result of this patented process of Gum-Dipping Firestone engineers have been able to build a wider tread of flatter contour, with more and tougher rubber and deeper non-skid, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Don't delay! Call on the Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store in your community today and equip your car with the new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934. Drive with security and peace of mind.

The Origin and History

THIS business is a product of diligence, industry and application, backed with the idea that nothing is too good for the customer, and, further, that the customer is always right. A store catering to everybody and selling to people of all sections from Hancock county and from along the Mississippi Gulf Coast is the idea in daily practice.

Mr. Mollere a former seafarer, and a boss mechanic, not fearing depression or whatever other elements might arise to combat with, during 1929 decided to enter the Grocery business. He knew no obstacles. Nothing daunted him. He knew a better store, with better goods and at lower prices could not but otherwise succeed. That this plan succeeded is best told by the results of today—after five years.

Mrs. Mollere's family had been old time merchants operating in the same building a big General Merchandise Store about thirty years ago, and the Grocery instinct still remained. So after a period of 30 years away from business, during which time six different individuals had operated at this location (some more successful than others) the Molleres began this store.

It was started in a very limited floor space in the. The meat market consisted of an old meat case and a cut refrigerator, and the store there. An old time hitching front of the old building.

The first summer produced good merchandise. Therefore during of the Summer months were old meat market was torn out stalled in the rear. Floor the store, other minor improvements and painted.

Improvements made patronage. More and various grades of meats, cheeses, d canned and bottled goods.

It has been completely rearranged, the floor has been covered, the front modernized, two large plate glass windows added, a complete and separate vegetable department, refrigerator cases for vegetables to insure their crispness and freshness at all time, the most modern new market on the Mississippi Coast; everything in the food line is being handled from imported delicacies to home grown products. Customers of several years standing have seen this establishment grow and become modern. It started with the depression and was builded on Quality, Service, and loyal patronage. The Molleres contribute what success they have had to the last named.

75,000 Cattle From

Drought-Stricken Area

Leave For Mississippi

Movement of 75,000 head of cattle from the drought-seared north-west to Mississippi grazing lands will start the latter part of this week.

Paul F. Newell, extension animal husbandman, Mississippi State college, announced from Jackson Tuesday.

Newell, who is in charge of the cattle distribution program in cooperation with State Relief Director George B. Power of Jackson, said shipping instructions covering the initial consignment had been forwarded to FERA officials at Washington.

The extension department official said the state emergency relief administration had been asked to take 75,000 head of beef cattle, but the expressed doubt if sufficient pasturage can be obtained to accommodate that number.

Newell said he had no information concerning shipment of dairy cows to the state as was originally contemplated.

Forestry Camp One Year Old June 9—Outline of Work
And Other Activities—Recreational Program—1222
Forest Alarms During Year Receive Response
And Attention

From Forrest, Jones and Stone counties, came the boys who constituted the charter membership of Company 1484. After assembling in Hattiesburg, Miss., the enrollees were transported to Fort Barrancas, Florida, arriving on the morning of May 25, 1933. It was there that the company, known then as Company "G," was organized. Two officers were in charge: Captain H. J. Matchett, commanding, and Lt. Geo. A. Tucker.

Moved to Hancock, June 9, 1933. After two weeks of preparatory training in Fort Barrancas, the company was moved to its present location, arriving on the morning of June 9, 1933. By nightfall, tents had been pitched and the boys were trying to rest under the leaky shelter they afforded. Lt. B. F. Farrelly reported for duty on June 11th. Under these three officers, in just a few weeks, the camp had taken on an appearance of orderliness, different details had been formed, and the boys had become accustomed to camp life.

As the work progressed, more of the leadership was turned over to the enrollees. Harold J. Schneider was chosen as Senior Leader, and an able corps of leaders and assistant leaders were appointed to aid him in relieving the officers of as much of the detail work as possible, that they might be a little more able to handle the company.

Mrs. James Sylvester, leader in recreational program. Mrs. James Sylvester and her worthy helpers of Bay St. Louis and vicinity were responsible for the success of dances and recreational programs, given for the boys, making the summer an enjoyable one for the company. A baseball team, newly organized, had a most successful season. On August 18th, Captain Matchett was transferred from the company and 1st Lieut. Tucker took command.

With the coming of fall, fires became so numerous that other work had to be suspended at times so as to have men available for fire-fighting. Work on the different projects progressed rapidly; the company moved into newly constructed barracks, and dances were held in the completed recreation hall. The basketball team won many games, winning the Wool Market Independent Tournament. With the exception of the first enrollment, some of the older members, not wishing to reenroll, returned to their homes, new men taking their places in camp. Captain F. W. Powers arrived in November, taking command.

Various Heads Report for Duty. With the coming of spring, fires became less numerous and the enrollees were able to enjoy an all night's sleep. Some new members were added and some old ones were lost with the expiration of another period of enrollment. On March 11th, Captain R. A. McKnight reported for duty as Camp Educational Advisor. Capt. Powers was transferred and Lt. Farrelly placed in command on April 1st. On April 8th, 1st Lieut. E. A. McKnight left the company to report for duty as C. O. of the Louisiana camp. The baseball team began its second season on April 1st. The company celebrated its first anniversary with a dance held in the recreational hall and a huge cake, presented to the company by Lt. Farrelly. Captain H. H. Haag took command of the company soon after and Lt. Farrelly returned to civilian life with the expiration of his time with the company.

"SWAT THE FLY" IS A TIMELY SLOGAN People of Bay St. Louis are Urged to Destroy Pests

Somehow, this spring we haven't heard as much as usual about the annual clean-up campaign, with its battletary, "Swat the Fly." We don't know whether we have just overlooked it or whether we have been suffering from our annual attack of spring fever and just slept through the campaign.

Anyhow, it might be a good thing to mention the subject again and if there are those in Hancock County who, like us, haven't taken an active part in this fight against the fly, this may serve as a reminder of the necessity for some immediate action against this common pest.

Long has the fly been recognized by medical authorities and health officials as a scatterer of diseases, most common among them being typhoid fever. The fly walks over diseased filth, matter, gets its body and legs contaminated with the disease germs and, before long, finds its way into our homes where it either comes in contact with some of our food or by contact with some of us, succeeds in spreading the germs with which it is infested.

We are glad to say that most of our homes are screened for protection against this common household pest. But where is there a home that can boast secure protection against a single fly? In homes where there are children, with the constant opening and closing of screen doors, it is practically impossible breeding place. We would suggest that every citizen in Hancock County go over his premises with the sole purpose in mind of discovering such breeding places. In the country, the stable and its surrounding lot furnishes an ideal place for the breeding of millions of flies. In the town or city, the garbage can which is not kept clean is a likely place. Dumps of any kind where rubbish accumulates furnish excellent places for the breeding of flies.

If it were possible for us to look ahead and know that one of our family would be stricken with typhoid fever or some other disease because of contact with a disease-laden fly, we would all do everything within our power to destroy these pests and see that our neighbors did likewise. Why not remember the warning that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure and do everything possible to rid Bay St. Louis and community of this source of contamination.

Great Southern at Gulfport Suspends After Continuous Operation of 31 Years

The Great Southern Hotel at Gulfport closed last Thursday night after an operation of 31 years. Rooms have been vacated and no further lodgers accepted.

The hostelry was built in 1903 by the late Captain J. T. Jones, as one of his many developments following the construction of the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad, the dredging of the deep water harbor from the shoreline to Ship Island, and the erection of the pier.

From its earliest days the hotel was filled to overflowing with an extensive clientele drawn from the north and nearby states. Popularized as a winter and summer resort, the hotel secured a variety of patrons. For more than 20 years it was the center of social life in the Gulfport area. Here the well remembered "governors' ball" was held and many conventions used it as headquarters. The Coast hostesses delighted in its ample public rooms and widely known cuisine.

Constructed on Southern line with vast corridors, large airy rooms and much light, the great frame building has commanded a prominent position among the Coast hotels. Beloved for the homelike atmosphere, enjoyed for the social life within its walls, the closing of the hotel sounds as a dirge to the hearts and memories of many on the Coast and throughout the nation who have known it in its heyday of popularity.

For several years the hotel has operated more quietly and unobtrusively than in the past. The owner early in the year of a probable closing.

Mrs. Grace Jones Stewart, daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. J. T. Jones, and wife of W. T. Stewart, who now makes her home in New York, is the sole owner of the hotel and property.

Thomas J. Sully was the architect and Mr. Heustis the contractor for the hotel. Set in a large park landscaped with a combination of southern and northern shrubbery and trees, the hotel overlooks the waters of the Mississippi Sound. The palm avenue to the south of the hotel is probably the handsomest of its kind in this section.

Joe Beeman, representative of the Jones-Stewart interests in this section, who has been managing the hotel recently, when asked what disposition is to be made of the hotel stated that he had "no comment to make" further than that the hotel closed officially last Thursday night.

The deceased is survived by her parents, Anthony and Mary Benvenuti, six sisters and two brothers.

DID YOU KNOW?

That the U. S. S. Texas, one of our first line battleships, is over 20 years old, having been commissioned on March 12, 1914?

That each arm of an octopus has 120 pairs of suction disks?

That a military secret is not a military secret, when it is news? The Navy used to be called the "Silent Service" but its policy has been changed not only to allow news to be given out but to educate the American people in the services rendered them by the Navy.

That talking picture equipment is now installed on about 200 vessels of the U. S. Navy?

That from the time of John Paul Jones to that of David Farragut, there were three main classes of ships in the navies of the world—the ship of line, the frigate, and sloop of war?

That the Panama Canal runs from northwest to southeast, making the Pacific end 27 miles east of the Atlantic end? This is the place where the sun rises in the Pacific and sets in the Atlantic.

That the total number of personnel involved in the U. S. Fleet maneuvers approximate 3,700 commissioned and warrant officers and 44,000 enlisted men, of which number about 1,500 officers and 15,000 men are attached to the scouting force?

That the 1934 French naval estimates allow for 54,000 officers and men in addition to nearly 5,000 men and cadets in naval training establishments?

That the Irish Free State does not permit importation of perambulators unless accompanied by at least one baby per vehicle?

That sixty-three varieties of time are being used in different countries?

Nothing to Brag About

The estimate is that 4,000,000 families, or 17,000,000 people, were on relief rolls in May.

It is not a picture of which any American can be proud but it is better to have them on relief rolls than to have little children and women starving.

Our civilization certainly needs some modification and revision when the United States, greatest industrial nation of the world, presents the spectacle of suffering that has been undergone during the past few years.

Let no one come forward with the declaration that the old ways are sufficient to the pathway of progress. They are undoubtedly doomed. The only question before the people today is whether they will be altered by friends of constitutional government, regardless of party, or whether, later, radicals, reds and other dangerous types shall take the lead in seeking to make life better for people.

Fahey, Jr., also member of St. Stanislaus class, '34, and young son, Jimmy O'Brien, were members of a private party that left last week-end for Ann Arbor, Michigan, to attend the graduation of John O'Brien, older son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. O'Brien, from the University of Michigan. The party will spend a while at A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago before returning home. Their itinerary calls for a most delightful trip. The trip to the Fair is a graduation gift of both young Fahey and O'Brien from their respective parents.

Firestone Engineers Find Same Principles Of Safety Apply

It is almost breath-taking to realize that the cars of today, large and small, conceal a power plant that will hurtle them through space at racing speeds—speeds at which a slip means wreckage and disaster. They do 85 miles an hour or more. Some have speedometers to show two miles-a-minute.

"Sixty" is common highway speed—which means 88 feet per second—literally flying. Yet today's cars give you the thrill of motoring, the saving of time, the ease of travel and opportunity to "go places."

In racing and on the highway the most dangerous equipment is an unsafe tire. Traveling over the hot, hard surfaced roads—that under the sun reach temperatures hot enough to actually fry an egg—the tires become hot inside and out—and heat is the greatest enemy of tire safety and life.

Firestone engineers 15 years ago anticipated the needs of today and have years of experience meeting the most trying conditions of racing—with such success that all the leading racing drivers buy Firestone Tires. These men who risk their lives and stake their fortunes can't be induced, under any circumstances, to use other tires. Every one of the 33 cars in the recent Indianapolis 500-Mile Race was equipped with these tires, and they have been on the winning cars for 15 consecutive years. New records were set up this year under the sizzling sun—but not a single tire failed.

The important thing in tires is not how many plies they have, but how strongly they are held together. To do this job, Firestone uses the patented Gum-Dipped process, which soaks every cord in liquid rubber to protect every fiber against internal friction and to bind the tire into one strong and inseparable unit.

Rubber has advanced 442 per cent and cotton 19 per cent, but fortunately for the motorist, tire safety can be obtained today at very low cost, for prices have not advanced in proportion to the advance of materials.

The United States has opened the way for England to pay her war debt, by offering to accept goods on account, which reminds one of the days when a man used to leave a bushel of potatoes or a bag of oats with the doctor, to apply on his bill. While it is true that a new day has created new methods, every now and then something crops up to indicate that the old-times, along any line, were not complete fools.

ELLIS E. CRAWFORD, LUMBERMAN OF PEARL RIVER DIES

Prominent Police Juror of St. Tammany Parish—Well Known Locally

Ellis E. Crawford, 45 years old, member of the St. Tammany parish police jury and merchant and lumberman of Pearl River, died at 340 a. m., Monday in Toussaint Infirmary at New Orleans, where he had undergone a serious operation.

The body was taken to Pearl River late Monday, and funeral services were at the Audubon cemetery, with members of the Masonic Lodge No. 311 of Slidell, of which Mr. Crawford was a member, officiating. Members of the police jury acted as pallbearers until the cemetery was reached, where the Masonic Lodge took charge.

Mr. Crawford is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lizzie Davis Crawford; a daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Crawford whose husband was recently elected mayor of Pearl River; a son, Clyde Crawford, postmaster at Pearl River; three sisters, Mrs. Nora Craddock, Mrs. Etta Craddock and Mrs. Corinne Blackwell, all of Pearl River, and two brothers, Clarence P. Crawford of Pearl River and E. Alonzo Crawford, member of the school board from the sixth ward.

Mr. Crawford had been identified with the mercantile and lumber business for many years at Pearl River. He was a leader in the Eight Ward, which he represented as a police juror, having been appointed to the body March 11, 1930, and having been elected later for a four-year term. He was the son of the late A. Dickson Crawford, former assessor of St. Tammany Parish.

Recent Reduction in Ford Automobiles

Detroit, Mich., June 21.—Reductions of $10 to $15 in list prices of 1934 Ford V-8 passenger cars and $10 to $20 in list price of Ford V-8 commercial cars and trucks were announced last week by the Ford Motor Company effective Friday, June 15th.

Ford prices had remained unchanged since the introduction of the 1934 Ford V-8 last December, the Ford Motor Company not having participated in the recent general automotive price increase. The reductions announced are, therefore, a decrease in the original prices.

The price reduction on the standard and de luxe Tudor Sedans, most popular individual models in point of sales, is $15. Prices of other standard and deluxe body types were reduced $10, except prices of the Roadster, Phaeton and Cabriolet, de luxe types, which remain unchanged. Both standard and de luxe passenger cars have the same V-8 engine and 112 inch wheelbase chassis. Body types for both are identical except for the de luxe equipment.

CURRENT COMMENT

THE plan of the Federal government to finance manufacturing establishments under state control is interesting because it suggests a departure from the idea of having everything managed from Washington, a concept which has troubled many, and not without reason. It is to be questioned whether even the present crisis demands a nationalization of industry. It is even questionable whether such a scheme is desirable in any event. Russia, for example, is far from having made out a perfect case in the eyes of the rest of the world. Russian industrialism still is decidedly in the laboratory or experimental stage. Civilization spread westward over the American continent through the efforts of a pioneering individualism. Perhaps the wise heads in control of Federal affairs hold the view that although a directing hand must be laid low now and then upon industry, prosperity in the factory or mill will have to depend upon the spirit of individualism which sent the covered wagons westward two generations ago.

The United States has opened the way for England to pay her war debt, by offering to accept goods on account, which reminds one of the days when a man used to leave a bushel of potatoes or a bag of oats with the doctor, to apply on his bill. While it is true that a new day has created new methods, every now and then something crops up to indicate that the old-times, along any line, were not complete fools.

On the 14th of June, the American flag was 157 years old. It was on that date in the year 1777, that Congressional action fixed the national banner in approximately its present form. In 1818, a law was passed which provided for the addition of a star as each state was admitted to the Union. There is no statute that provided how the stars shall be arranged. By common consent they are generally placed in six rows of eight each. Where the flag was first flown in battle is a moot question. Numerous places within the field of Revolutionary conflict of the time claim the honor. The historical background of the flag is of minor consequence. The past is honorable but gone. The important thing is that Francis Scott Key's wish may come true, namely, that the well known oblong cloth may continue long to flutter in the early summer breeze of Flag Day, and that below it may stretch the land of the free and the home of the brave.

OUR new "Ringlette" method of permanent waving is revolutionary. It is quite as simple, easy and comfortable as a marcel. With it there is not the slightest discomfort, pull or pain. There is no pedicel—no chandelier—no heavy mass of metal to take away the pleasure of having a beautiful wave.

Too—just one wire is used—that assures you of freedom of movement throughout the operation—YOU CAN WRITE, WALK, OR TELEPHONE! It produces a beautiful, natural wave—and that with one tenth of the usual amount of heat. This naturally tends to protect the hair rather than take the life out of it. The "Ringlette" marks a new freedom and new beauty in permanents—be among the first to enjoy its comforts.
